Coronavirus Food and Drink Suppliers

Area North

Introduction

South Somerset District Council have produced this directory of food and drink businesses who are operating during the COVID-19 outbreak. We are aware that businesses are providing a positive service to local residents and wish to support them by offering some extra publicity. If we've missed you and you wish to be involved please complete the survey below:

South Somerset Food and Drink Directory Survey

Maintaining social distancing in specific food business settings

Food and drink retailers

Food and drink retailers need to avoid crowding and create adequate spacing between individuals.

Effective measures to support this will vary by store and location but could include:

- monitoring the number of customers within store and limiting access to avoid congestion
- implementing queue management systems to limit crowds gathering at entrances and maintain the 2 metres distance
- reminding customers to only buy what they need

Public Health England (PHE) supports measures to allow safe privileged access to elderly and essential workers such as NHS and Social Care staff.

Takeaways and restaurants offering a pick-up service

Customers should be encouraged to order online, by app, or by phone.

Customers waiting to order or collect should wait in a designated area where a 2-metre distance from other people can be maintained. If this is not possible, customers should enter the premises one at a time and only when their order is ready to be made or collected.

Collection times should be staggered to discourage crowding outside the premises. Where queuing is taking place, you should use queue management systems to maintain a 2-metre distance between people.

Coronavirus Food and Drink Suppliers

Area South

Introduction

South Somerset District Council have produced this directory of food and drink businesses who are operating during the COVID-19 outbreak. We are aware that businesses are providing a positive service to local residents and wish to support them by offering some extra publicity. If we've missed you and you wish to be involved please complete the survey below:

South Somerset Food and Drink Directory Survey

Maintaining social distancing in specific food business settings

Food and drink retailers

Food and drink retailers need to avoid crowding and create adequate spacing between individuals.

Effective measures to support this will vary by store and location but could include:

- monitoring the number of customers within store and limiting access to avoid congestion
- implementing queue management systems to limit crowds gathering at entrances and maintain the 2 metres distance
- reminding customers to only buy what they need

Public Health England (PHE) supports measures to allow safe privileged access to elderly and essential workers such as NHS and Social Care staff.

Takeaways and restaurants offering a pick-up service

Customers should be encouraged to order online, by app, or by phone.

Customers waiting to order or collect should wait in a designated area where a 2-metre distance from other people can be maintained. If this is not possible, customers should enter the premises one at a time and only when their order is ready to be made or collected.

Collection times should be staggered to discourage crowding outside the premises. Where queuing is taking place, you should use queue management systems to maintain a 2-metre distance between people.
